TRAGIC DEATH OF HYRUM MCFARLAND

Falls Under Freight Train at Carlin,
Nevada, and Instantly Killed
Tuesday Night.

OGDEN, June 2.—Hyrum McFarland, the well known Ogden sheepman, was killed while boarding a freight train at Carlin, Nev., at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, May 31. The information concerning the death of McFarland was received in a dispatch at the office of Southern Pacific yesterday.

McFarland had several cars of sheep in the freight train which was leaving the Carlin freight yards. While attempting to board the train he fell beneath the wheels and was instantly killed.

A coroner's jury investigated the death yesterday morning and rendered a verdict that McFarland met with accidental death.

The body will be brought to Ogden for burial. Brothers of the deceased left Wednesday for Carlin to take charge of the remains.

Hyrum McFarland for many years has been prominently identified with the sheep industry of Utah. He has been an ardent worker in the interests of the wool growers and at the national convention held in Ogden last January he was one of the most prominent workers of the general committee.

CITIZEN ARRESTS PICKPOCKET

OGDEN, June 2.—Albert B. Foulger, floorwalker at Wright's dry goods store and president of the retail clerk's association, took the law into his own hands shortly after noon on Wednesday by arresting Joseph Smith, a German hobo, whom he found going through the pockets of Thomas O'Brien, a drunken man. Mr. Foulger was returning to work after lunch when he noticed the drunken fellow and his companion on Adams twenty-fourth street, just east of Adams avenue. As he approached the pair, he saw Smith put his hand in O'Brien's pocket and draw out some currency, which Smith threw over a fence when he got closer. Mr. Foulger picked up the money, which proved to be a $10 greenback, and then took hold of Smith's arm and told him to march along quietly. Whether Smith took Mr. Foulger for an officer is not known, but without any show of resistance he walked to the sheriff's office where he was locked up. Deputy Sheriff John Murphy brought in the drunken man and when he searched the officer found $8 in his pocket. The officers state that another man was seen in company with the two arrested, but his whereabouts is now unknown.

OGDEN, June 2.—Mike O'Neill, J. Galliger, John Colbert, Charles Ryan, Arthur Miller, J. Farley and Chas. Peterson, were arraigned in police court Wednesday morning on the charge of drunkenness and sentenced to each pay a fine of $5 or remain in jail for five days.

The case against Thomas Kelly, charged with assault and battery, was dismissed owing to the absence of the complaining witness.

Grant Lawrence, known as a parasite in the underworld, was sentenced to pay a fine of $99 or serve a sentence of the same number of days.

Owing to the absence of the arresting officer, whose testimony was required to establish the case, Harry Davis, charged with mendacity, was discharged. John Menzie, charged with vagrancy, was discharged on the recommendation of Detective Pender.

George Bright and George Williams each forfeited $25 bail on the charge of vagrancy.

W. A. Stark entered a plea of not guilty to conducting a photo graph business without a license and the case was continued till Thursday morning on the motion of the city attorney.

G. Griffith entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of selling ice cream from wagons without a license and the matter was continued.

Dr. McCallough, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was again present and his attorney, Mr. Chez, put Mrs. Delilah Brown on the stand to show that the defendant had no weapon in his hand until assaulted by striaters. Mr. Chez then asked for a reduction of the bond of the defendant stating that nothing more than simple assault could be proven in the case and that as no jury trial could be had for three or four months, he considered it a great injustice to the defendant. The court signified his willingness to reduce the bond to $300 providing the county attorney would make a recommendation to that effect. However, Mr. Jensen, county attorney, would not so recommend and McCallough was bound over to the district court under $500 bonds.

Edith Cathcart denied the charge of vagrancy and after hearing the testimony, the court ordered her discharge with the understanding that she leave the city.

Speros Vegenos, a Greek, was arraigned on the charge of selling liquor to minors. His case will be continued for his preliminary hearing.

He further alleges that the defendants have frequently claimed the right to the use of the water and that in May of this year, they diverted the water from his property, thus causing his right and title to water and ditches to be declared valid and that the defendants be enjoined from asserting a claim. He also asks damages in the sum of $100 with costs of the action and general relief.
